Gardena Golf Set

Los Angeles professional golfers are competing with tournament trail golfers in the 15th annual Gardena Open Golf Tournament through Sunday, at Western Ave. Golf Course.

Among the name professionals who submitted their entries to the tournament chairman, Andy Andress of the sponsoring Gardena Valley Kiwanis Club, are Jack Fleck, Lee Elder, Charley Sifford, George Bayer, Ronnie Reif, Bob Lunn, Jim Ferrier, Jerry Barber, and Arne Dokka.

More than 300 professionals and amateurs are expected to participate in the 54-hole, $10,000 event. The pros are playing for $9,000 and the amateurs for $1,000 in merchandise.

Howie Johnson, the 1967 winner, is on hand to defend his crown. Charley Sifford, winner of the event in 1959, 1964, and 1966, is another favorite.

Considerable interest will focus on Elder, who carried Jack Nicklaus five extra holes in the American Golf Classic earlier this year.

PGA professionals Earl Martin, Western Ave., and Harvey Chapman, Victoria Golf Course, are among the contenders. It was Martin and Chapman who conceived the tournament in 1954.

Proceeds from the gallery will be used by the Kiwanis Club to assist underprivileged children in the Gardena area.

The field was split for Thursday and Friday. The low professionals and the low amateurs will square off in the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

El Camino Nears Title

Long Beach City College and El Camino College battle Saturday night in the final Metropolitan Conference game of the year. The conference championship is riding on the outcome.

The Vikings, coming off a 14-12 win over Cerritos, are 5-1 in Metro play and tied for second place with Bakersfield. El Camino is 6-0 and resting alone in the top spot, but a Long Beach win would throw the race into a three-way tie — provided that Bakersfield, also tied for second place, wins this week. All three teams would be 6-1.

El Camino is one team the sophomores of LBCC would like to beat after the Warriors took a wild 49-41 win from them last year.

The Vikings were victimized by Tom Reynolds, who scored five touchdowns for ECC, including three in the first period. He's back this year and is joined by Dave Boyd, Dan Heck and John Featherstone in a powerful offensive lineup.

The teams have met a total of 17 times since 1950 and LBCC holds the series edge, 10-6-1. A football oddity occurred in 1958 when the teams were "fogged out" in the second half and the game was declared "no contest."

El Camino has headed down the wire in the past two years to glimpse at the conference title. Last year, the undefeated Warriors met the undefeated Bakersfield team in the final game of the regular season and lost 34-8 to finish in second place.

Oregon State Is Coming

Oregon State Football Coach Dee Andros said the ability to shut off the long run from Trojan halfback O. J. Simpson was the key to the Beavers' 3-0 win last season, the only blemish on national champion USC's record.

"It was a great containing defense," he said. "We didn't stop Simpson cold. I think he got something like 188 yards."

"But we did stop him from long runs and we also forced the Trojans into some bad plays."

It was pointed out that Oregon State's defense has been pierced for 143 points in eight games this season.

"We lost some good kids from last year's defensive squad," said Andros. "We lost an excellent tackle to the Olympics (wrestler Jess Lewis) and I had to kick our starting safetyman off the team for disciplinary reasons."

"We also had some good players graduate. But the last four weeks we've been a real solid defensive club."

If there's a secret to defeating USC, Andros said, it might rest in ball control.

"Against UCLA, we had the ball 85 times to 54 for the Bruins," he said. "In the third quarter, we had it 33 times to three for them."

Oregon State smashed the Bruins, 45-21, and it was obvious Andros would like to eat the ball in a similar way against USC.

"With the threat of Simpson and Steve Sogge's fine throwing, you have to keep the ball away from the Trojans," he said.

At the age of 44 and 40 pounds above his playing weight of 210 on Oklahoma's splendid post-war teams, Dee keeps running — right in front of his team as it charges onto the football field.

"It's getting tougher," Andros admitted. "Last week was homecoming and we had an extra-large band lining a path for us."

"It added about 25 yards to the run. I like to have died."

One thing is certain, however. If the Beavers could win Saturday, Andros would be willing to run all the way to Pasadena.

Bruins Do Poorly on the Road

Batting zero for four on the road against 3-1 in Los Angeles Coliseum, Coach Tommy Prothro's physically battered UCLA football team hits the trail for the third and last time when the team flies to Seattle to meet the Washington Huskies Saturday.

After holding rugged Oregon State to a 24-21 half-time score at Corvallis last weekend, the gallant but out-manned Bruins wilted under a Beaver second half battering that resulted in a record-breaking 45-21 loss and further key injuries to Fullback Rick Purdy (shoulder) and Linebacker Mike Ballou (ankle).

This week's contest, which looms as a tossup, puts UCLA's 3-5-0 record against the Huskies 2-4-2 record with the Bruins winners only over Pittsburgh, Washington State and Stanford while Washington has topped only Wisconsin and Idaho.

Torrance Can Still Get a Tie

About the time the Sky League was declared in the hands of the Rolling Hills Titans, they were upset by Culver City, 20-7, and now three schools have a chance for a piece of the action.

Threatening the pennant race is the possibility of Palos Verdes beating Rolling Hills in their league finale Friday afternoon at P. V.

Palos Verdes and Torrance fought to a 6-6 tie last Friday and each has one loss and a tie on its record. Both need a second loss by Rolling Hills to tie for the crown.

Torrance will invade Leuzinger Friday night. The Tartars lost their pass catching whiz Mike McGuire in the first quarter against Palos Verdes.

Coach Hal Warfield said the amount of action McGuire will see Friday depends on the outcome of the P. V. - Rolling Hills game.

Torrance relies on the passing of Kim Brooks and the running of Randy Barnett and Terry Waters.

Terry Waters is combined with Mike Verna, Wayne Peterson and Greg Waters to provide the Tartars with one of the best defensive four-somes in the Sky League.

Palos Verdes 0 0 0 0-6
Torrance 0 0 0 0-6
Palos Verdes TD—Dutcher (32-yard pass from Pinnle).
Torrance TD—Barnett (5-yard run).

W. Linstad Signs With Giant Club

Wade Linstad, one of the two pitchers for South High's championship baseball team, has signed a professional baseball contract with the San Francisco Giants organization.

Wade was signed Tuesday at his home by baseball scouts George Genovese and Jack French.

Linstad is playing winter ball with the Giant rookies and will report to Casa Grande, Arizona, for spring training in March.

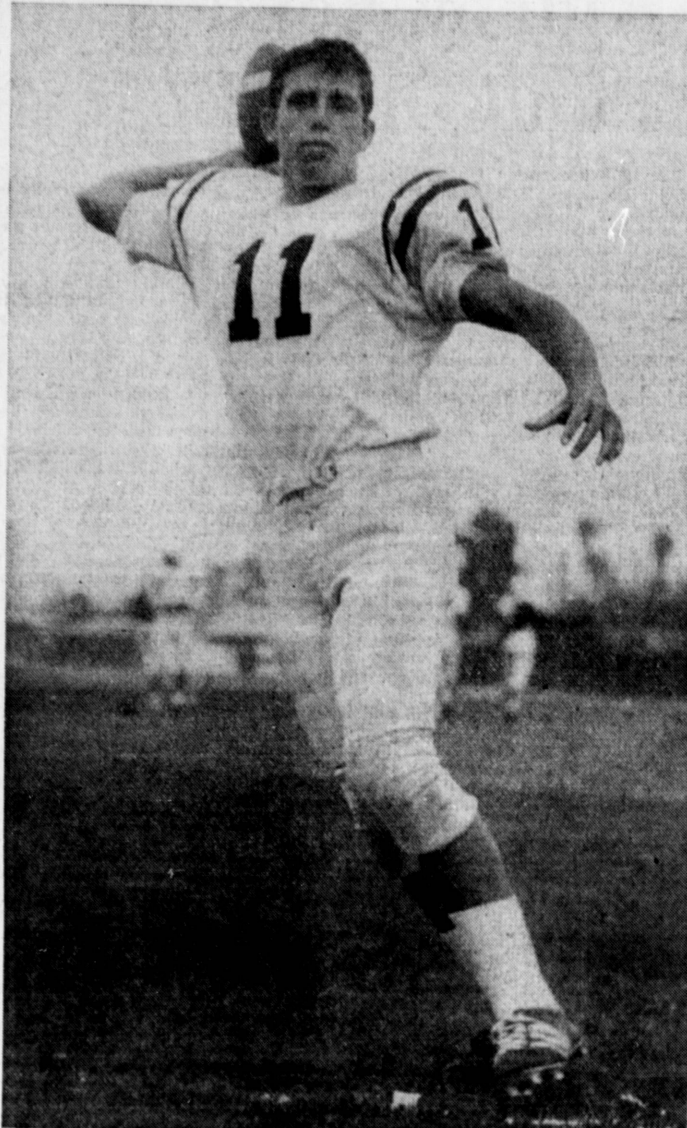

Wade is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Linstad of 14459 South Madison Street.

Special Rates Provided for 'Senior' Golf

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn recently won approval for persons who buy monthly golf course passes to use them on holidays as well as weekdays.

Last year, 5,353 monthly passes were sold, mostly to senior citizens.

Costing $18, they previously entitled the holder to play any day except Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays.

PASSING WHIZ . . . Kim Brooks, Torrance High's outstanding senior quarterback, has passed for more than 1,000 yards for the Tartars this season. His team plays at Leuzinger tonight in the final game of the Sky League.

North-South Game Arrives

A nice way to end the Bay League football season is to play a game between North High and South High.

The annual game will be played tonight at North High Stadium.

As tradition goes, North High is expected to maintain its unbeaten status against the Spartans, but, don't bet too much on it.

North has three Bay League victories as compared to one for South. Both teams handed Redondo a loss, but the North Saxons also defeated Inglewood and Mira Costa.

North could be in particularly good shape tonight should speedster Elvin Yoshida return to the backfield. He was less than 100 percent during brief play against West last Friday.

South is coming off its best game, winning 27-0. The game was turned into a rout after the Spartans scored a pass interception and a fumble.

Quarterbacking the team is Sam Robertson and the remaining backs are Bruce Johnson, Norm Youngberg, and Greg Whitford.

Anchor man on defense for the Spartans is All-Bay League linebacker Eric Langdon.

North High linebacker Ron Sugimoto has played a lot of defense for the Saxons. The two linebackers are expected to have their own contest for the most tackles tonight.

Sharing the tailback assignment in event Yoshida cannot go all the way will be Doug Lovetro who has impressed lately.

Rick Estrada is the quarterback and the line consists of Neal Crider, center; Steve Martin and Randy Quarry at guard, Dennis Cleland and Bruce Fahrni at tackle and Greg Taylor and Royle Stillman at end.

The Saxons coached by Ed Levy are defending Bay League champions. The only

Vikings Beaten

By 13-7

By HENRY BURKE

Cochise said it would happen someday!

Beat Santa Monica and the winds will blow and it is liable to rain for 40 moons. That should just about take us up to Christmas.

But 'joy to the world' of West High came on the eve of November 15 when the Warriors won the Bay League football championship with a monumental 13-7 victory over the Santa Monica Vikings.

A crowd estimated around 8,000 was on hand at Corsair Field to watch West, a newcomer to the league, slip by its seventh straight opponent to end an unbeaten 9-0 season.

West will represent the Bay League in the CIF "AAAA" playoffs next Friday. Pairings have not been divulged.

Coy Hall played the best game of his career against Santa Monica. The slender quarterback carried the ball 17 times for a net of 38 yards and completed 6 of 8 passes for 74 yards. The statistics are not terribly impressive, but Coy eluded the tough Santa Monica defense so much, it had a tangible effect on the outcome.

WEST scored in the first quarter for a 7-0 lead. Samohi evened the count at 7-7 with 8:27 remaining in the game, but following an unsuccessful onside kick, West went 52 yards for the winning score.

The big touchdown was a back breaking 24 yard run by halfback Dean Owens. It was one of his patented bursts over right end. He broke at least two tackles and was home free after heading down the sideline at the 15.

Paul Johnson's place kick, which could have cinched the championship, was just wide to the left.

Santa Monica had four minutes to get back on the scoreboard, but Vince Calozzo recovered a Mike Palmer fumble. With 55 seconds to go Tom Alnes intercepted a game ending pass.

THE WARRIORS used four first downs to move 73 yards for the first period TD. Hall completed all four passes attempted in the drive. He threw to Hulsey for 34 yards and three times to Gary Kendrick for 11, 6, and 5 yards.

At the 12 yard line, Coy picked his way for 7 yards for a first down to the Samohi 5. He carried himself to score in two plays.

Both defenses were fierce. When backs like Hulsey and Owens are held to a net of 5 and 25 yards, it speaks well for the Viking line.

But Santa Monica backs also discovered early in the game that the Warriors came to play football. Jim Yates, Don Clark, Bob Oliver, Jim Strofie and Leo Auclair dumped Mr. Palmer and Dery Smith a few times "like they never were gonna get up again."

Palmer, who ran for 365 yards against Mira Costa last week, got a 50 yard net. His best run was 21 yards on a fake punt play. It preserved a 70-yard drive for the same touchdown. Three plays later Greg Casillas got behind Jim Parton for a 36 yard pass catch and two yards later Harris went 10 yards on a quarterback keeper play for the score.

Andre dela Cerda kicked the tying point.

But a 7-7 tie meant nothing more than second place for the Vikings, so they went for the onside kick in an attempt to win the title. West's Dan Forlaw grabbed the squib kick to give the Warriors good field position. Aided by a 15 yard penalty they scored in six plays on Owens' celebrated run.
